Chapter 1: A New Town, A New School

Kaho is a girl. She is fourteen years old. She is very pretty and very clever. Kaho is good at everything: sports, music, and schoolwork. Everyone likes her. She is a star.

One sunny morning, Kaho and her family move to a new town. Kaho starts a new school: Sakura Junior High School.

In the classroom, the teacher says, "Good morning, students! This is a new student, Kaho Sato."

Kaho stands up. She smiles. "Hello, everyone. Nice to meet you."

The boys look at Kaho. Wow! they think. The girls look at Kaho. She's so cool! they think.

Kaho sits next to a boy named Ken. Ken is tall and sporty. He is good at baseball.

"Hello," Kaho says.

Ken blushes. "H-hello. I'm Ken."

At lunchtime, Kaho eats her lunch. Many students come to her table.

A boy named Riku comes. He is a famous painter in the school. He is very kind. "Do you like art, Kaho?" Riku asks.

"Yes, I do," Kaho answers. "I like your pictures. They are great."

Riku smiles. He is very happy.

Another boy, Hiro, comes. He is very funny. He always makes people laugh. "What's your favorite animal, Kaho? A funny monkey or a small cat?" Hiro asks with a big smile.

Kaho laughs. "A small cat!"

In the afternoon, Kaho plays volleyball with the girls. Ken watches her. She is good at sports, too, he thinks. She is perfect.

Kaho is happy, but also a little bit confused.

So many new friends! she thinks.

Chapter 2: The Boys Are Many

The next day, Kaho is a big star in the school.

Ken, the sporty boy, always walks with Kaho to her class. "Do you like baseball, Kaho? Come and watch our game on Saturday," Ken asks.

Riku, the kind boy, always helps Kaho with her books. "This is a new book for you, Kaho. It's about a famous artist," Riku says.

Hiro, the funny boy, always tells Kaho jokes. "Knock, knock. Who's there? Kaho. Kaho who? Kaho is the best!"

Kaho smiles. She likes all the boys. But who does she like most? She doesn't know.

In the classroom, a very clever boy, Takashi, is studying. He has glasses. He is the best student in the school. He is very rich, too.

Takashi looks at Kaho. Kaho looks at Takashi.

"Hello, Takashi. Do you like this math problem?" Kaho asks.

Takashi looks at her. "Yes. I study a lot. I want to go to a very good high school."

"Me too," Kaho says. "It's hard, but I want to try."

"It's good to try," Takashi says. "Maybe we can study together."

"Yes! Great idea," Kaho says.

Chapter 3: Schoolwork and Friends

Kaho starts studying with Takashi in the library after school.

"This is a difficult test," Kaho says. "I need a very good score for the high school."

"You are clever, Kaho," Takashi says. "Just work hard."

Kaho looks at the book. "I want to get a good result," she says. "But I also want to spend time with my new friends... and the boys!"

Takashi smiles a little. "Ken, Riku, Hiro... and me?"

Kaho laughs. "Yes, and you!"

Ken calls Kaho on the phone. "Kaho! Come to the park! We are playing soccer!"

Riku sends Kaho a small picture of a beautiful flower.

Hiro sends Kaho a funny video of a cat.

Kaho looks at her homework. Then she looks at her phone.

"I need to study," she says. "But I need to be a good friend, too."

Chapter 4: Trying and Choosing

One evening, Kaho is at home. She is very tired. The school test is tomorrow.

Kaho is studying a difficult English sentence. She cannot understand it.

Her mother comes into the room. "Kaho, are you okay?"

Kaho looks sad. "I like my new school, Mum. I like the friends. I like the boys. But I need to study for the test. I want to pass."

Kaho takes a deep breath. She looks at the difficult sentence again.

"Mum," Kaho says, "I know it is hard. The test, the friends, the high school. But I'm trying now. I want the test score to come out right."

Her mother smiles. "You are a wonderful girl, Kaho. You can do it. Good luck with the test!"

The next day, Kaho takes the big test. She thinks about Takashi and their study time. She thinks about her dream high school.

After the test, Kaho sees Ken, Riku, and Hiro waiting for her outside.

"How was the test?" Ken asks.

"Can we go for a walk now?" Riku asks.

"Do you want to hear a new joke?" Hiro asks.

Kaho smiles at them. "The test was hard, but I think I did well. Thank you for waiting."

"So, Kaho," Ken says. "Which boy do you like most? Who is your choice?"

Kaho looks at Ken (sporty), Riku (kind), and Hiro (funny). They are all very good.

Then, she sees Takashi. He is walking out of the school, carrying his books. He looks a little tired, but he is smiling.

Kaho walks to Takashi.

"Hi, Takashi. Good luck with your high school dream," Kaho says.

"You too, Kaho," Takashi says. "Let's study together next week, too."

Kaho looks at all the boys. She is happy.

"I like all my friends," Kaho says. "But now... I want to study first! High school is important!"

She smiles at Takashi. "Let's go to the library, Takashi. We can talk about the test!"

Takashi smiles. "Okay, Kaho. Let's go."

Kaho walks with Takashi to the library.

Maybe later, I will choose, Kaho thinks. But now... study first!
